

ScanCountPro—Data Collection for WinMobile

Key Features

- Allows you to collect inventory data on a barcode reader and transfer this data to your PC.
- Allows you to collect fields such as locations, part numbers, descriptions and quantities.
- Has the ability to print out a receipt of the transaction that you've collected.
- Prints barcode labels using a portable or desktop barcode printer.

Overview

ScanCountPro (SCPro) is a fully functional data collection program for Windows Mobile devices. You can use it to collect inventories, scan badges, do inspections, verify deliveries as well as many other applications. All the data collected on the mobile barcode readers can easily be transferred to the PC for use with your inventory, accounting or other programs. You can also print receipt or barcode labels, and SCPro works with a variety of mobile barcode equipment.

Configurability

SCPro is configurable. You can configure the data collection software with different prompts, different fields and field lengths, numeric or alphanumeric, scanned, keyed or both. You are allowed one to five fields of data as well as a date/time stamp for each transaction. You can also load a lookup for verification or to pull in data for other fields such as price, description and serial #.

Printing Receipts or Labels

SCPro can easily print out receipts or labels using a mobile Bluetooth or cabled printer. Whether you need to print out a receipt for a delivery transaction or you need barcode labels for shelves or items, this software gives you the flexibility for both. Using this software allows you to design your label and/or receipt template so that you gain maximum advantage with your application.
